COVID disrupted all levels of U.S. education, including public PreK programs. How did Wisconsin's 4K programs fare? In this webinar, CRECE researchers will focus on Dane County districts, presenting findings from surveys and interviews with 4K teachers and parents in 2020-2021. They will describe how districts made decisions about instructional mode and resource allocation and how parents and teachers experienced these decisions. In addition, we will explore potential silver linings in an otherwise challenging time.
